Golfers take a swing against ovarian cancer at annual Molly Cade Scramble this July

Golf and give back by supporting the Minnesota Ovarian Cancer Alliance's mission

Minneapolis, June 16, 2017 — Each summer, golfers gather on the greens of Brackett's Crossing Country Club in Lakeville, Minn. to play 18 holes of golf that gets us closer to a test and a cure for ovarian cancer. Registration is now open for the Molly Cade Scramble for Ovarian Cancer, held on Monday, July 17 on one of Minnesota's top-ranked golf courses.

Teams fill up fast at $300 per golfer or $1,200 per four-person team. The scramble-style game is perfect for players of all ages and abilities. Check-in begins at 11 a.m. with a shotgun start at 1:30 p.m.

Golfers will enjoy a variety of golf goodies as part of their registration. This year, participants will receive a golf umbrella as a gift from MOCA. In addition, golfers will enjoy games, giveaways and a box lunch and buffet dinner.

K102 DJs from the Chris Carr and Company Morning Show, Chris Carr and McKaila Granning, will join us at this year's event, hosting a game to benefit MOCA on a hole for golfers to join them. Carr lost his mother to ovarian cancer and is an advocate for the disease and a proud supporter of MOCA. Carr will also emcee the inspirational dinner program following the golf event.

The annual event is named after MOCA co-founder Molly Cade, an avid golfer and a woman with a vision for what MOCA could become. In their 18th year, MOCA continues to further Molly's vision by providing funding ovarian cancer research, educating the public and the medical community and providing support to women and families.
